COLORED MAN HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

Coroner's Jury at Donora Last Night Decides That One Herman Johnson Fired the Shot Eventually Killing Leila Warfield

DATE OF SHOOTING JUNE 11

Johnson Became Enraged At Young Woman's Refusal to Take An Automobile Ride With Him, Following a Baseball Game At Americo Park

Last night at Donora, Coroner William Greenlee held an inquest into the death of Leila Warfield, who died July 4, as the result of a gunshot wound inflicted by Herman Johnson at Americo Park, Donora, on June 11. The coroner summoned A. J. Vernon, Albert Erdelyi, Mortimer Black, Joseph Mesher, Thomas Smith and Glenn Baker as a coroner's jury.

After hearing the evidence the jury returned a verdict finding Leila Warfield came to her death at her home in Donora on Independence day, from pneumonia and paralysis, caused by the bullet wound in the lungs and which also severed the spinal column. They further found that the gun was fired by one Herman Johnson, June 11, at Americo Park following a baseball game when Johnson became enraged at the refusal of the young woman to take an automobile ride with him.

The jury recommended that Herman Johnson be held for the next grand jury of this county to answer to the charge of murder. Johnson is being held in connection with the shooting in the county jail, having been captured by a guard at the smallpox camp nearby when he attempted to escape from the scene of the shooting in his machine.

NOT PERTURBED BY FORTHCOMING TRIAL

Washington, July 24.—In the fever heat of the colorful, three-cornered battle for the presidency, fraught with unprecedented possibilities the dramatic touch may await the trial of Senator Wheeler of Montana, vice presidential candidate on the independent ticket now set for October—the crucial period of the campaign.

Wheeler's trial, at such a time, it was pointed out today, is without parallel in American political history. It was recalled, however, that Eugene V. Debs made the race for President, on the Socialist ticket in 1920, from Atlanta federal penitentiary.

Quite unconcerned about the indictment of charges of misusing his office to promote the interests of a legal client which has been hanging over his head since spring, Wheeler, in a noisy mood, left today with his family to motor to Massachusetts. In the little fishing village of Wellfleet, on Cape Cod, he will rest for three weeks before starting on the strenuous barnstorming trip planned for him by the Independent managers.

Wheeler said he had ceased to give the indictment any thought, after repeated efforts to have his trial expedited by the department of justice. He was indicted in the midst of his

WORK ON EPISCOPAL RECTORY IS STARTED

Work on the erection of St. Paul's Episcopal rectory in Fourth street, near Grant Monongahela, has started by E. L. Clubbs, Monongahela contractor, who was awarded the contract. The lot on which the rectory is being built, is 80 by 120 feet and was donated to the congregation of the church by Miss Cornie Black. The building will be of brick and will contain eight rooms.

COUNT LANDS IN NEW WORLD OF CONQUEST

London, July 24.—The Daily News today announced that Count Landi, who salvaged the battleship Goeben so successfully for the Turks, is returning to London to complete preparations to re-float the Cunard liner Lusitania and recover millions in bullion and "the most important official documents."

Company Head Paid $25 For Recklessness

Mrs. R. D. Kirkpatrick, two daughters and a son of the lady, were severely cut and bruised last night about 6 o'clock when the car in which they were riding was struck by a sedan owned and driven by Edward T. Hitchman, president of the Superior Coal Company, Wheeling, W. Va.

The Kirkpatrick machine, driven by Harold Kirkpatrick, was returning from the Baptist church picnic at Palmer park. Traveling along the Donora-Monongahela highway, the heavy Hitchman car bore down on them, crashing into them and putting both machines out of commission. Hitchman was arrested and taken before a Monongahela functionary, at whose hands he was fined $25 and costs, the charge being reckless driving. Both machines were towed in a garage at Monongahela.

New Eagle Borough Is Planning For A New Sewer System

New Eagle Borough council met Tuesday night. The newly organized board of health went over the situation in the borough of New Eagle with the members of council.

At a recent meeting of council by-laws were adopted and an extended ordinance governing the health and sanitation conditions in the borough passed final reading. The members now expect to inaugurate a cleanup campaign.

Council employed the McVicker Engineering Company of Monongahela to prepare plans and data for a sanitary sewer, part of which it is expected to construct as soon as the plans are ready, and the necessary permit can be secured from the state department.

Many of the lines have already been run and the levels made, but some detail work must be completed before the plans will be ready. If the plans are approved by the state department it is expected that work on the main sewer and lines leading from the hill district in Monongahela will be placed at once.

Many new houses have already been erected in New Eagle, several are now in course of completion and many more will be built when the sewers are completed.

CONDITION IS STILL CRITICAL

William Robston, 69 years old, who resides in the borough of Donora and was seriously hurt when he was hit by a truck on Saturday night, remains in a critical condition at the Memorial hospital.

As soon as his condition will permit, his right leg, which was badly crushed when he was pinned by the bumper of the truck against a steel railing, will be amputated. The police of Donora are continuing their search for the colored driver of the truck.

THE EVIDENCE IS DAMAGING IN THE CASES OF YOUTHS

Criminal Court Room, Chicago, July 24.—Friends and intimates of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb today helped the State pave the way for punishment for the millionaire youths who murdered Robert Franks.

It was a slow, sure, but surely, State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe deduced fragments of evidence which he hopes will force Justice John R. Caverly to order the boys' hanging.

There were several dramatic moments in today's early session. The first came when Elizabeth Sautler, a maid in the Leopold home for four years, took the stand. She is small and fair, and spoke with a pronounced accent. There is a strong bond of affection between the maid and young Leopold, and Nathan was visibly affected as she took the stand. Their eyes met and the girl looked at the boy in mute misery.

"Yes," she almost whispered, as she was asked whether the typewriter on which the $10,000 ransom letter was written was similar to the portable machine she had seen in the Leopold home.

"Yes," was the whispered response to the question of whether the chalked automobile route was similar to the one she had seen in the Leopold home.

Miss Sautler was on the stand but a moment or two, and seemed near to collapse.

Leopold and Loeb again lost the amused smile when Dr. Emile Deutch, eye specialist, testified that the glasses found near the body of Robert Franks, had been the ones prescribed for Nathan Leopold.

FORD TO FLOAT LOAN FOR SWEET PEACE SAKE?

London, July 24.—"Perhaps Henry Ford will float a loan for the sake of world peace." This idea, said the Morning Telegraph, today, is being seriously suggested in some quarters here.

"If Morgan, Rockefeller, and the bank of England interests remain adamant regarding a German loan," the newspaper said editorially, "it is suggested in some quarters that Ford might save the situation."

FIRE STARTING IN GARAGE CAUSES $20,000 LOSS

York, Pa., July 24.—Fire starting in his garage early today destroyed the new $20,000 home of Arthur Glatfelter and then swept to neighbors' residences at Loganville, near here.

The blaze showed stubborn resistance to the efforts of York, Glencliff, and Jacobus fire companies, which had responded to calls for aid.

Four machines stored in the garage were completely destroyed.

LETHARGY SHOWN IN MURDERERS' PURSUIT

Teheran, Persia, July 24.—A protest laid before the Persian government by the diplomatic corps today declares insufficient energy was shown in pursuing the murderers of Major Imbrie of the American consular service who was beaten to death by a fanatical mob Friday. The diplomats demanded guarantees of the safety of life and property of foreigners.

Teheran was quiet today, under martial law, and the authorities have ordered the closing of the Sacred Spring which was the occasion of last week's tragedy. It was learned that Major Imbrie had obtained permission from a priest to photograph the spring, but when a native crowd observed him doing so, they killed him.

John Majors To Succeed T.W. Hastings

John Majors of Fallowfield avenue, a pioneer resident of the borough, was elected as street commissioner last night at a special meeting called by the president, to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Thomas Hastings.

The resignation of Mr. Hastings was formally accepted last night. Mr. Hastings, who has been capably filling the office of street commissioner for the past two and one-half years, was obliged to resign on account of ill health.

The office was accepted by Mr. Majors, and he began his duties this morning. He is well-known and popular gentleman, and the consensus of opinion prevails that he will make a worthy official.

Mr. Hastings was elected as street commissioner in January, 1922, and made a good official. He is thoroughly familiar with conditions in the borough, and well posted as to the streets and avenues, and Mr. Majors will doubtless be aided by him in the performance of his position until he familiarizes himself with its manifold duties.

Commanders Selected To Organize Hospital Workers For Campaign

The seven division commanders each of whom are to have charge of 40 salesmen under four captains each in securing subscriptions to raise $150,000 for a new hospital building at Lock No. 4, have been selected, according to the announcement made this morning by General Chairman, Kerfoot W. Daly.

Chairman Daly said that he and his sales manager, J. B. Tussing had selected as the seven division commanders the following men and women: George W. Micht, S. L. Woodward, Mrs. C. J. Morgan, Mrs. Michael osenbloom, Harry W. Scott, J. F. Wall and James T. Heffran.

Each commander is busy getting his or her team captains. In all there will be 29 teams of 10 workers each making in all 290 workers under the direction of seven division commanders.

Adding the 50 members of the executive committee there will be an active working force for the hospital of 340.

A very important part of the campaign is that for which the division commanders will be responsible. It is stated, as they will have charge of securing subscriptions from hundreds of citizens during the week of the intensive campaign for the hospital.

"The division commanders selected are all individuals noted throughout this community for their willingness to help any good cause that has for its purpose the upbuilding of this community or to safeguard the happiness and prosperity of its people," declared Chairman Daly.

"Now, these people have volunteered to work without any compensation whatsoever to the end that the health of the citizens of this community may be safeguarded through the medium of a new and fireproof hospital which is so seriously needed."

"I am exceedingly glad to be able to announce to the public that these people have accepted for service," continued Mr. Daly, "and I am sure that there will be no question as to the outcome of the campaign as these able leaders are all active securing their captains and workers in preparation for the drive which is to start as soon as we can get ready."

Manager Tussing also declared that the seven commanders selected were that with their active interest and cooperation he was certain the large sales organization would be complete within a day or two when he expected to make the general announcement of all the captains and their workers.

IN THE INTERESTS OF BOYS AND GIRLS

Harrisburg, July 24.—Ways and means to extend the advantages of vocational education to boys and girls in Pennsylvania will be discussed at the three-day conference at State College, August 19, 20 and 21, Dr. J. George Becht, state superintendent of schools announced today.

Last year 59,000 attended these schools, said Dr. Becht. This does not include shop work and home making instructions given nearly all pupils in the first, second and third-class school districts of the State and which is part of their general education.

School superintendents and prominent speakers have been asked by L. H. Dennis, director of the bureau of vocational education, who is in charge to attend the conference.

DAYS OF RABID DOGS BEGIN ON JULY 29

Washington, July 24.—The parental injunction "hang your clothes on a hickory limb, but don't go near the water," is reasonable once more.

Astronomers at the United States naval observatory here announced today that "dog days," traditional time of rabid canines, and poisoned ponds, will begin July 29.

On that date, Sirius, the dog star, rises with the sun for the first time during the year. It will continue to rise at dawn until September 1. The star will be visible in the early morning hours.

The naval scientists, however, assured the public that there is no occasion for alarm at the proximity of the Muggy season. The fear of "dog days" is an ancient bugaboo, born long before the time of the Egyptian calendar.

Contrary to the popular belief, the season's name is not attributable to the fact that dogs are prey to rabies at that time. It is named for the bright star Sirius, who eternally follows Orion, the hunter, in his heavenly chase.

"The ancient Egyptians thought the rising of the dog star was responsible for the torrid heat of the Nile country during the late summer," explained Astronomer Willis.

Gorley's Lake to Be Scene of Felicitous Time In Which Women Members of Monongahela Valley Enjoy Day In Mountains

THE DATE IS ON JULY 31

People of Valley Towns Will Participate — Committee of Uniontown Review Will Have Everything In Readiness When Visitors Arrive

Plans are now complete and everything is in readiness for the great day, July 31, when the members of the Monongahela Valley and Uniontown districts of the Woman's Benefit Association of the Maccabees will enjoy their annual outing at Gorley's Lake. Many members will go by bus over the mountains for the day at the lake and many sports have been planned by the committee in charge. Buses will leave about 8 a. m. from the valley towns, and at 9 a. m. from Uniontown. The return trip will leave at 8:30 and all buses will travel the mountain trails together.

This is the first year that all local organizations have picked together, and as this is an ideal spot and the most central for the occasion and for this section, the committee in charge has selected this place. Mary T. Hardwick of Uniontown will be general chairman, while the general committees in charge of the various presidents of the local clubs, are:

Commander Margaret Robb of Monongahela; Commander Grunda-man, Donora; Commander Davis, Charleroi; Commander Gilmore, Bentleyville; Commander Bodice, Monessen; Commander Wildman, Belle Vernon; Commander Roy, Fayette City; Commander Donaldson, Newell; Commander Edwards, Brownsville; Commander Davis, Uniontown; Commander Cramer, Conowingo; Commander Whetzel, Smithfield; Commander Van Hoon, Fairchance, and Commander Moore, Point Marion. These officers will chaperon the party and every precaution will be taken to avoid accidents on the trip. Careful drivers and mountain omnibus climbers have been solicited for the trip. Everyone who has ever traveled these mountains will verify that they are the finest drive in the state, as every mile is a mile of wonderful scenery and beauty. The Gorley's Lake Hotel management has promised.

PINCH HITTER DECIDES THE GAME IN FAVOR OF BROOKLYN TEAM

Bernie Neis, hitting in a pinch yesterday at Forbes Field broke up a hard-fought ball game in the tenth inning when he soaked the leather-coated apple into center for a two-sacker and drove Zach Wheat across the platter with what proved to be the winning tally. The Pirates thus were nosed out by a count of 4-3 after they had smashed the skirmish to a standstill on two occasions.

Wheat's bludgeon, which had been unusually silent in the earlier engagements of the series, broke the spell on this occasion and the celebrated son of swat uncorked five hits out of as many trips to the home rubber. Jacques Fournier, home run king of the National League, peeled off his twenty-second circuit clout of the season, and a similar wallop was uncorked by Rabbit Maranville. Fournier's big smash found another Robin on the runways in front of him, while Rabbit's was emitted with the track clear.

Wilbur Cooper went upon the hill with the avowed intention of registering his twelfth victory, but the fates turned against him and he was charged with his ninth defeat. The southpaw ace faced worthy opposition in the persons of Bill Doak, distinguished native son of Pittsburgh, and Arthur Decatur who hails from Plainville, Ohio. Both are right-handers. Doak was derrick to give a pinch hitter a chance and Decatur unraveled the ninth and tenth frames, he rescue moundman being credited with the win from a pitching standpoint.

ZIVIC IS DEFEATED

BY BERNSTEIN IN A DECISIVE MANNER

Last night one of the best looking lightweights in the country paid the penalty of being rushed into a title. Like Hymie Gold, Bobby Barrett and other victims of the mad rush to get to the top without conserving the energy necessary for such a grueling test, Jack Zivic, Lawrenceville lightweight, Olympic champion, conqueror of Sid Barbarian and moral victor over Pal Moran, paid the penalty of fighting good too often without taking the necessary recess.

Weakened by making 164 1/2 yesterday and then coming in at 130 after the fight had been postponed 24 hours, Zivic was an easy victim last night to Jack Bernstein, former junior of the 12 rounds, while Zivic had won the sixth, and the seventh was even.

Never before had the dope been so unexpectedly upset and last evening Zivic, who two weeks ago was considered without a rival except Luis Vignola of Chile must start all over again or be counted out altogether on the chance which is to determine who will wrest the crown from the proud head of Benny Leonard.

Sitting at the ringside were V. centini, Archie Walker and Jimmy Goodrich, each and all of them contenders, and Zivic's sorry showing must have given them hope in the second and to be hoped the last elimination series to determine the logical challenger.

Zivic lived up to form he has shown through his professional ring career. When he is good he is very good and when he is bad he is terrible. Last night he was terrible and the lad who Cuddy DeMarelo administered a sound thrashing a month ago in Hartford made Jack look like a novice instead of a championship contender.

GREB MUST MEET

JEFF SMITH BEFORE DEMARCO-ZIVIC BOUT

Showing that time does not heal everything, the ancient feud between Al Lippe, former manager of Jeff Smith on the one side, and "Red" Mason, Harry Greb and Cuddy DeMarelo on the other, broke out in full flame yesterday when the matter of a match between Jack Zivic and DeMarelo was mentioned by Jimmy Bronson, who in addition to handing Zivic, has also taken off Lippe's to the top without conserving the energy necessary for such a grueling test, Jack Zivic, Lawrenceville lightweight, Olympic champion, conqueror of Sid Barbarian and moral victor over Pal Moran, paid the penalty of fighting good too often without taking the necessary recess.

Strutting about in his knicker, and golf shoes without a hat, so that he may get the advantage of the seashore sun while busy with his stable, Bronson in answer to a pointed question, said, "Sure, I'll let Zivic fight DeMarelo, any time, any place, and almost for any money. But"—and then came the big but—"Harry Greb will have to live up to his agreement to fight Jeff Smith before I'll go to Lippe and I want to do what is right with him. The very moment Mason agrees to a Smith-Gieb match that minute I am ready to sign articles for Zivic and DeMarelo the match preferably to be staged in Pittsburgh."

BREAKS WORLD'S RECORD

Bill Doherty, of the Newark Athletic Club, who in one of the games at the Olympic games, shattered the world's

What We Owe.

The man who does not love his home town cannot be expected to love its people or its institutions.

This is an old adage going back to the days of historic Athens. If Meyer's Ancient History and Plato's government were written today, and about Charleroi, instead of Athens, they would hold the same axiom to be true.

Every good citizen wants to help his city by helping a good institution in it. And the new hospital is the kind of an institution that gives no excuse for division of support on any ground whatever because it is a public institution.

Charleroi is our home. It is the place where we make our living. It is where our children go to school. It is where we have most of our friends. It is where we spend 85% to 90% of our lives. It is our home town—the town we love more than any other town. That's why we stay here.

The citizens of Charleroi are the people who create and support all local institutions that make life profitable, happy and worth living in this city. Charleroi is what her citizens make her; and in the same way, her institutions are what her citizens make them. Charleroi is no better or no worse than her institutions.

What is a town without institutions, without community interests, without those things that bring our people together in a common interest with a common responsibility? The success of Charleroi and every business and every money-making position here depends upon such institutions.

Who would live in a town without churches, without schools, without organized social life and recreational features? Who would live in a town that was backward, where the wages were lower, and the profit from business less, than anywhere else? Who would live in a town where everyone was for himself and no one was for the town? Would you?

The point is, that the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital is a public and community institution; and a new fireproof building with modern equipment is Charleroi's greatest present need. It will do more to make Charleroi loved by her own citizens than any other single thing that could be done now, for it will be the direct means of increasing security of good health and recovery from sickness and accidents. Nothing is more important than this project at this time, so far as the people of this community are concerned.

Our city has good churches, good schools, good clubs, good banks, good stores—in fact, it has good institutions of every kind except a good hospital. The city is full of good people; and God has been good to it by giving it good air and watching it prosper. Briefly, we have a good little city.

But the thing we now need most is a modern fireproof hospital.

Through all these years we have neglected our financial obligation to our hospital. We have recognized its wonderful service to the community, but we have never given enough serious thought to its need for a new building with modern equipment.

The time has now come, however, when this must be secured. At least $150,000 is needed to build and equip a new hospital—we should have $200,000. We are now in the midst of organizing a campaign to raise money for this new building. You will be asked to help. You will be asked to give. Make up your mind to give to the limit—all you can pay in five years. The question now before you and which you must answer, is:

Dollars or Lives?

MACDONALD AND MEXICO.

The outside world was hardly prepared for the breaking off of diplomatic relations with Mexico by the Labor Government of Great Britain. Premier Ramsey MacDonald's friendly attitude toward France, in contrast with that of his predecessor, had indicated persistently pacific purpose in the matter of foreign relations, and no longer ago than the middle of May he declared that his government was determined in foreign affairs, to adopt "an we policy in a new spirit," the policy of "friendly reason" without "any hint of a gun." He said he was particularly solicitous to cherish the interests and recognize the dignity of the weaker countries, asserting that his "heart was with the small nations." Though speaking primarily of Europe, this broad pacific principle was naturally expected to include the Western Hemisphere as well.

Mexican discourtesies and provocations must have been marked to lead to a seemingly abrupt change in such an announced policy, although doubtless both sides have been at fault. The Mexican government was within its rights in demanding the recall of a British diplomatic representative no longer welcome in Mexico and therefore no longer of use to his own country, but it was both culpable and indiscreet in the use of offensive language, which Premier MacDonald resented as a matter of course. Though a Labor Minister pledged to disarmament as well as pacific international intercourse, Mr. MacDonald can not forget that he speaks for the British empire and must think of its prestige among the nations. Doubtless he also sees the need of convincing the British people that their foreign affairs are in safe hands. The world at large as well as Great Britain will be much interested in the outcome.

THE OTHER PARTIES.

The indorsement of La Follette by the Socialists may have conveyed the impression pretty widely that all the minor political groups have been gathered under his banner, but this is a mistake. In 1920 there were seven Presidential candidates and there will not be fewer this year. In addition to the Republican, Democratic, La Follette and Prohibition parties, there is the Single Tax party which nominated William J. Wallace as its Presidential candidate last February. The American party, which in spirit and purpose is said to "march with the Ku Klux Klan," nominated Gilbert O. Nations on June 3 at Columbus, Ohio. In New York early in May the Socialist-Labor party nominated Frank T. Johns. Early in June the Farmer Labor party provisionally nominated Duncan Macdonald and later definitely settled on William Z. Foster as its standard bearer. Finally there is the National Independent party which recently announced a separate ticket.

Even if there are no more to come, we have now in all eight parties in the field. La Follette may count on advantage through a possible deadlock of the election, but what can the other five minor parties hope to accomplish? Of course the leaders may gain something through advertisement and other means, but what of the followers? Presumably they are supported and heartened by the confiding faith that they alone have the truth, and that the truth is mighty and will at last prevail.

It is stated that the initials "J. S." (Jesse Smith) have been found by the Senate investigating committee on many of the checks aggregating $515,000, drawn by George Remus, the millionaire bootlegger now in the Atlanta penitentiary, in return for official protection during his illegal operations, and that Daugherty's successor Mr. Stone, was "both astonished and startled" by the discovery. But the public has been prepared for this and more.

A western senator is quoted as saying that very few of his colleagues ventured to "sneak into" the Republican national convention—a notable departure from the situation in 1920 when the senators ran everything from the start and finally nominated one of themselves.

The wheat promise is 45,000,000 bushels less than last year, and the corn prospect is 362,000,000 bushels less than the promise at this date a year ago. But these and other crops often make a much better showing at the end than the earlier forecasts.

In Washington all gall is divided into two parties.

A sensitive citizen takes space in an exchange sheet to deny indignantly the rumor, spread locally, that he is a Democrat.

Johnny (looking from window)—Mom, there's some girls on horseback, and they've got those funny looking clothes on.
Mom—What? Knickers?
Johnny—Oh, no, mamma; they're all white people.

BEACOUT DIFFERENCE.

One time—I can recall it still—When grandmas of today were misses,
To him who had a dollar bill
The dollar looked as big as
THIS IS.

But in this day of stress and change,
When people mostly seem myopic,
A dollar bill—'tis passing strange,
Is little more than microscopic.

An unsophisticated youth is one who wonders mournfully is she will have him.

Apparently the average flapper does not know the difference between bare skin and bear skin in winter.

A model husband is one who knows enough to put soap powder in the water before he washes the dishes.

A choir was rehearsing the sacred anthem, "As Pants the Heart."
The leader found that the male singers did not sustain a certain note long enough. At last he cried:
"Stop, stop, gentlemen! Your 'pants' are far too short."

Correct this sentence: With all my worldly goods I thee endow, said the newspaper reporter.

We wonder why the leather goods dealers don't get out infringement papers against some restaurant keepers.

(This paragraph was suggested after ordering a steak in a restaurant a day or so ago.)

Man is a dissatisfied and discontented animal. Those who have inside jobs long for outside work and those who have outside jobs think they would do better if they worked inside.

THE HARVEST.

There is always a harvest for those who work,
There is always a time of reaping,
There is never a harvest for those who shirk,
But often a time of weeping.
Endeavors and earnings go hand in hand,
The prize is for him who earns it,
But nothing accrues to the man who sees,
There is work—and willingly spurns it.
There is always a harvest for those who work,
There is always a storehouse filling,
With sheaves of gold as the years
For the hands that are always willing.

Success and labor are close teammates—
Together for fortune flying;
And there's nothing on earth that is out of reach—
To the man who'll keep on trying.

WHAT KIND OF IRON HAVE YOU BEEN TAKING?

The Newer Compound of Iron Containing Organic Iron Like the Iron in Food—It's Important to Know the Difference—How to Tell.

A child must have lime to make bone, but it gets organic lime from milk and not mineral lime from lime rocks. So the millions of red blood corpuscles in your blood must have iron, but nature put food iron—not mineral iron—for your blood in the husks of grains and the peels and skins of vegetables; modern methods of cooking throw them all away, hence the alarming increase in anemia—iron starvation of the blood, with the devastating weakness, nervousness and other attendant ills it brings. You should either go back to nature or take the newer form of food iron to make up for this great loss and maintain your body and mental vigor. The iron that people usually take is mineral or metallic iron and is made merely by the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron. The newer form of iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in the husks of grains and peels of vegetables. It is so prepared that it is ready for almost immediate absorption and assimilation by your blood, while some physicians claim mineral iron is not absorbed at all. This newer form of iron may be had from your druggist under the name of NUVETAL. It costs much more to make Nuvetal iron than it does to make mineral or metallic iron. But when your health is at stake, get the best. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturer if you do not obtain perfectly satisfactory results. For sale by all druggists.

Push Clouds Aside

The fabled performances of the old woman of the nursery rhyme who was able to "sweep the cobwebs out of the sky" has a scientific parallel in the ability of aviators under some conditions to brush small clouds out of the sky by repeatedly flying through them. A fair-sized summer cumulus or fair weather cloud may sometimes be obliterated by about twenty flights through it. While there is no adequate explanation for this effect, it is thought to be due to a combination of the stirring effect of the plane and especially of the propeller, the carrying into the cloud of warmer unsaturated air, and the warming of the air in the cloud by the compression effect of the swiftly-moving plane. The method works only when the clouds are about stationary in size and fall when conditions are such that they are growing rapidly.

In Society's Realm

Mrs. Guy Woodward of Lincoln avenue was hostess yesterday afternoon to the regular meeting of the Thursday afternoon Bridge club, which was held at her home. Playing bridge was the main diversion, two tables being in play. Mrs. L. G. Wagner was presented with the favor. The three visiting guests present were Mrs. V. P. Veslet, Mrs. Lois Miksch, and Mrs. Blythe. The serving of a dainty luncheon by the hostess brought the afternoon to a close.

A miscellaneous shower was held in honor of Mrs. Michael McKita Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Frances Vogel of 303 Shady avenue. The evening was spent in games, music and dancing, about 20 guests being present. At a late hour a dainty luncheon was served by Misses Anna Poloski and Mary Koller. Mrs. McKita, who was formerly Miss Mamie Waddell of North Charleroi, was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts.

At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon a pretty wedding was solemnized in the First Christian church by Rev. W. M. Long, pastor of the church, when Miss Augustine Teplica of Crest avenue, became the bride of Robert Watkinson, son of Mrs. Anna Watkinson of Third street. The ceremony was witnessed by only the relatives and a number of intimate friends. The bride, who was prettily attired in a gown of grey cation crepe with hat to match and carried a bouquet of pink roses, was attended by Miss Alberta Jacobs of Fallowfield avenue who wore a gown of old rose cation crepe and carried a bouquet of white daisies. William Jacobs served as best man. Following the ceremony the bridal party went to the home of the groom's sister, Mrs. Lena Ward of Crest avenue, where a wedding dinner was served. The young couple, well-known in Charleroi, will make their home with the groom's mother. The groom is employed in the Pittsburgh Steel mill at Monessen. The bride has been employed at Lorain, Ohio.

Before an improvised altar of ferns and flowers in the living room of the home of John Kappel, No. 4 Broadway avenue, Perryville, Pittsburgh, the brother of the bride, a pretty July wedding of unusual local interest was performed by Rev. Shroyer, pastor of the Mt. Zion Lutheran church, North Side, Pittsburgh, when Miss Hilda Kappel and William H. Bromwich were united in marriage yesterday afternoon at 1:40 o'clock. The ring ceremony was used. The bride, who was given in marriage by her guardian, W. J. Hein of Pittsburgh, appeared beautiful in a gown of white can'ton crepe and she carried a bouquet of sweet peas. She was attended by Miss Helen Skinner of Blairsville, who wore a yellow silk crepe gown and carried pink roses. Alfred Bromwich, brother of the groom, served as best man. The wedding procession marched into the room to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Miss Levena Martin of Pittsburgh, cousin of the groom. A wedding dinner was served in the dining room of the Kappel home following the ceremony, covers being laid for 40. The young couple left on a motor trip to Niagara Falls, Buffalo and other eastern points. They will also visit at DuBois and Charleroi before returning to Pittsburgh where they will go to housekeeping. The groom, who is the well-known and popular salesman of the National Biscuit company, all of this place were among the guests present.

Experiments Show How Octopus Secures Prey

Experiments have been made in a specially devised tank, in order to test the truth of many stories told of octopi attacking human beings and dragging them to the sea bottom. In the tank with the octopus experimented with there was placed a "dummy" of the same specific gravity as a man, and this was baited with a crab. Attracted by this tempting morsel, the octopus made for the figure, seized it in its powerful tentacles, and tried to drag it under water, but without success. It then went to one side of the tank and, holding onto the edge of the glass with some of its arms, it dragged its prey beneath the surface and crushed the crab shell with its powerful jaws.

It is believed that these experiments afford proof that the octopus can drag its victims far below the surface of the water only near rocks to which it can attach its "suckers." There is one spot in the Bay of Naples where these creatures attain a large size, and now and then a fisherman is reported missing. It is thought that such disappearances are due to the unfortunate man's being caught by the leg by a concealed octopus and dragged under water. In the case of such a repulsive and powerful creature as the octopus, it is difficult to separate fact from fiction.

Victory Achieved in Keeping Soul Young

Byron reminds us that "time writes no wrinkles on the azure brow of the poem," but can we say that there is any other brow anywhere upon which he does not place his tell-tale marks? We look into the glass with a close scrutiny some day and the face that greets us there shows unmistakable signs of his passing.

And yet we wonder if it is quite right to blame all that we see in the glass on Time, when we think of the needless worry and fret with which we crowd our lives. But the brow of a man's soul—is it not possible to keep it free from the furrows and scars and wrinkles that are left elsewhere?

Even if we have to allow that the weight of the years and the years' cares and responsibilities and disappointments must bend down the frame a little, and take from the step something of its elasticity, might we not hope that the soul would be able to keep young and fresh and buoyant through all the years?

If we could manage to keep the soul young, why need we care what else may happen? If we could learn the secret of how that could be done would it not be one of the finest lessons we had learned all our life through?—Exchange.

Got "Peeping Tom"

Something exceedingly antique and rare in the legal line was presented in Rochdale, England, when a young man was arraigned in the magistrate's court on the charge of "unlawfully listening by night under walls, windows and eaves of Rochdale Infirmary, to hearken after the discourse, and therefrom to frame slanders and mischievous tales." He resisted capture when caught up a spout looking through the nurses' sitting-room window and was struck on the head with a hammer by an infirmary official, says the Cincinnati Enquirer. The charge was preferred under an old common law respecting "night walkers and eavesdroppers."

May in Olden Times

Really Merry Month

In bygone times each town and village in England chose its fairest daughter to be queen of the May. Games were played, archery contests were held, and rollicking "hobby-horse" races run. In course of time May day became consecrated to ivy and the greenwood met his death.

The Morris dance was another popular revel held on May day, the dancers all being dressed in fancy costumes, decorated with jangling bells. Among them was a fellow known as the lazy man, who was the only one who never uttered a word during the frolics. Perhaps he was supposed to be too lazy even to speak. Another dancer, garbed as a jester, went among the spectators with a bladder or an eel skin and a soup ladle, the latter for taking up the collection. The dancers never forgot this part of the ceremony.

Gradually May day lost its distinctive features as a time of great jollification, but for long the chimney-sweeps celebrated the day by a little ceremony of their own. They would go around in companies, with one man in each party arrayed in a framework of leaves and flowers. This quaint masquerader was known as Jack-in-the-Green.

Nowadays in England the celebration of May day is left chiefly to labor demonstrations, while a few beribboned horses strive heroically to keep alive the gay traditions of the merrie month.

When High Churchmen Laid Aside Dignity

The bishop of Exeter having complained that he had seen at a confirmation service boy candidates cracking nuts and eating sweets, the Manchester Guardian asks what would the good bishop have thought of the conduct of Richard Corbet, who was appointed to the see of Norwich in 1632? Corbet, according to John Aubrey, had as chaplain "Doctor Lushington, a very learned and ingenious man, and they loved one another. . . . One time, as he was confirming, being about to lay his hand on the head of a man very bald, he turns to his chaplain and says, 'Some dust, Lushington' (to keep his hand from slipping). . . . The bishop would sometimes take the key of the wine-cellar, and he and his chaplain would go and lock themselves in and be merry. Then, first he lays down his episcopal hat—'There lies the Dr.' Then he puts off his gown, 'There lies the bishop.' Then 'twas 'Here's to thee, Corbet,' and 'Here's to thee, Lushington.'"

Pin Holes in Steel

Making an adding machine required the drilling of ten holes in a plate a thirty-second of an inch thick, each hole to be accurate to a thousandth of an inch, yet no bigger than a pin in diameter, says the Detroit News. Such a problem stopped the manufacture of the machine on a commercial basis until the inventor of the calculator could invent a means of solving it. The result was a most ingenious machine that stands about twelve inches high.

The drill which was built carries ten spindles, each holding a drill of No. 6 Morse gauge, which is about the size of the pin of ordinary use. Each little sliver of steel that does the work is driven by a belt operating through a cam head and therefore works at the same speed as that of its neighbors. The actual drilling requires ten seconds.

Introduced Politics

According to the Los Angeles Times, recent visitors to the Solomon Islands, in the south Pacific, have brought back a story about the introduction of party politics into a picturesque island called Madang. Under the inspiration of some forward-looking citizens who had acquired contact with American politics during their residence in Hawaii, the population has ranged itself into two parties, designated the republicans and the democrats. The republicans live in the hill country, are unsympathetic to white people, and cling fiercely to their own ancient lights. The democrats, who inhabit the coastal districts, have adopted many of the laws and customs of the white traders and missionaries.

"Finding" Her Specialty

A Greater Lawrence woman, who walks not more than an eighth of a mile from her home every morning regards herself as quite a "finder," says the Boston Globe. Without looking for anything unusual on the way, these are some of the things she has found in the last year: A yard of ribbon, an automobile tire, a lone rubber, a dozen cream cakes, a puppy, stopper from an eight-quart milk can, pair of goggles, a glove, one-half yard of plaid flannel, loaf of bread, twenty-pound cake of ice, a kitten, pair of luncheon napkins and a brand-new rocking chair.

"Patented Leather"

"Patented leather" is the real name of the japanned and permanently polished leather that nowadays we speak of as "patent leather."

When boots made of this leather first began, very many years ago, to be put on the market, they were designated as "patented." As a matter of fact, it is doubtful whether the whole process was patented, though, of course, each successive inventor has patented his particular varnish, and so on.

A new automobile highway over 600 miles long now joins the Nile and the Congo, and it is predicted that in no great while even the deepest jungles of Africa will not be safe from the smell of gasoline and the bang of the motor car.

BILIOUS?

then here is good advice

Stop taking harsh purgatives like Salts and Calomel at once, and take a dose of purely vegetable compound that contains just what your doctor would advise. These little tablets act directly on the kidneys and liver, but do not cause purging, only a gentle movement of the bowels being apparent. But oh, what a difference in your feelings by the morning; not only do you feel better, but you look better and think clearly.

Simply ask your druggist for a 35c box of Lebanon Herb Tablets and take tonight as directions advise. Every druggist will refund the purchase price if they fail to satisfy you, so try them tonight at our expense. Wagner's Drug Store can supply you.

SICK WOMAN MADE HAPPY

Entirely Restored to Health
by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mart, Texas.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to build me up as I was all run-down, nervous and sick. I fainted and hurt all over so that I was often compelled to go to bed, and I had to have most of my work done. No medicine seemed to help me until one of my neighbors who was taking the Vegetable Compound insisted on me trying a bottle of it. The medicine helped me from the first, and the best of all is that I can even sew again without that awful, nervous feeling I used to have. And I used to take crying spells, with such a blue feeling that I cannot explain. Now all that has left me. I feel so cheerful, and I have gained in weight, sleep well and eat hearty. Oh! I wish I had words to express what this medicine has done for me! I am a housekeeper and do everything from the sewing to the washing now and it doesn't hurt me. You may use my letter in any way you wish. I will be glad to help any suffering woman to the road of health and happiness."

DAVIS PROVES GRACK PLAYER AT GOLF

Dark Harbor, Maine, July 24.—Politics went on a vacation today to all intents and purposes for John W. Davis, Democratic presidential candidate, having defeated Frank Polk at golf two successive days, the candidate began to brag of his golf game, whereupon he was challenged to a threesome by Polk and J. C. Nyg, personal friend for the championship of the island, and he was forced to accept.

While he was to make a second start on his acceptance speech this morning, the nominee decided that he could work much better after the championship was settled and so after receiving William R. Pattangall, and Fulton J. Redmond, Maine Democratic leaders who discussed local politics with Davis, he adjourned to the links.

Davis was told by Pattangall that the Democrats stand an excellent chance of electing a Democratic governor this year, although it has never happened during a presidential year. The reason for this optimism is due to the fact that there is a split in the young tree state organization which leading Democrats do not feel will be healed by election.

So far none of the Democratic leaders have violated the wish of Davis, to be left alone while up here. For up to noon today he had not heard from a single one of them through the mails or otherwise, with but one exception. Homer Cummings visited him for a short time Tuesday. As a result no campaign committee appointments will be announced until after Davis returns to New York, probably the last of next week.

Two wild cats are on the way to the candidate; it was disclosed today. Davis received word from two men in Massachusetts that they were shipping the animals to him, having noted that he said he could lick his weight in wild cats.

All kinds of suggestions are being sent to Davis for incorporation in his acceptance speech "Unique" is the way he described it, would be if he adopted the suggestions.

A soap manufacturer today sent him three bars of soap in each of which as a transparency read "For clean government vote for Davis." A letter accompanying the soap said this was a most effective way to advertise his campaign, but the candidate was non-committal.

$20 A WEEK AT

When you have a human love story of dramatic appeal, a secondary motive of vital consequence, lots of comedy and actors who know how to act, then you have a really worthwhile piece of screen entertainment. These elements are all found in "$20 a Week," the Distinctive-Selznick photoplay feature at the Majestic Theatre Friday and Saturday. Whether you are a housewife with a small allowance for large needs, whether you are a $20 a week clerk, riale or female, or whether you pay that much weekly as an income tax, this comedy drama will appeal to you.

How much can a man live on? That's the question—and the rub. It's a problem which confronts us all, and generally it confronts us just about the time of life when we are falling in love with the most beautiful the most wonderful girl. How to solve the problem and how to get the girl make a fellow sit up at nights. Maybe you are not a candidate for sitting up all night, but you'll sit up and watch this film with interest.

George Arliss is the star of "$20 a Week." He has in his support such stage and screen celebrities as Taylor Holmes, Edith Roberts and Ronald Colman. Also there is a wonderful child actor named Joseph Donohue, six years old and chockful of pep. Forest Halsey, who has written all of the Arliss stories and recently, has provided the scripts for Gloria Swanson and Rodolph Valentino, made "$20 a Week" from a magazine story by Edgar Franklin.

Arliss takes the role of a millionaire retired steel man who has a spendthrift son. He cuts off the boy with $20 a week spending money just about the time the boy was contemplating marrying a rich girl, daughter of a former partner of his father. The millionaire decides it is only fair to himself what he is forcing his son to do, so he arranges to get a job as bookkeeper in a steel plant—the one owned by his son's fiancée and her brother. With this as a start, the story moves rapidly through a series of comedy situations and sterner conspiracies. The boy makes good as a $20 a week man with a bang and the father, through enabled to save the fortune of the girl his son wants to marry.

The film is beautifully done, with magnificent sets and photography. It was directed by Harmon Weight.

TAHITI FARMERS ARE ENRICHED BY BEANS

Kanakas Live High as Price of Vanilla Soars

Papeete, Tahiti.—A great demand has arisen in these western islands for bicycles and motor cars, although the roads are mere tracks.

The Chinese in Papeete have endeavored to satisfy the demand by combing all the old junk heaps for ancient bicycles and antique "tin lizzies." A little tinkering and a few coats of paint, and the rejuvenated contrivances are ready to be exchanged for quantities of vanilla far in excess of the value proffered.

This is one of the consequences of the visitation at Papeete of "vanilla millionaires" from the Leeward group of the Society Islands. These islands escaped the plant disease that devastated the plantations of Tahiti some years ago. Thus, when the price of vanilla beans soared recently to great heights, these islanders had full crops, for which they received sums beyond their wildest dreams. Papeete being the Paris of the South seas, these newly-risen nabobs have been flocking here to spend their gains.

The roads in and about the city have become a primary road market, chartered by the week, loaded with fat Kanakas, who rush about at high speed, to the consternation of pedestrians. Their women folk are astonishing the beach dwellers with glowing silks, high-heeled shoes and picture hats.

This orgy of spending will continue until the last franc is gone. Then the natives will return happily to the peaceful shores of Raiatea and Bora Bora and resume their old pursuits of climbing the mountains for "fer" and combing the reefs for fish. But, having had a whale of a time, they will be content.

Daughter of Rasputin Makes a Visit to Paris

Maria Gregorievna, claiming to be the daughter of Rasputin, the famous evil genius of the late czarina of Russia, arrived in Paris recently after many tribulations and adventures. She claims to be one of the five legitimate children of the notorious monk. She claims to have lived with her father in Petrograd, and each week he took her to see the czarina. She also tells of the terrible ordeals after Rasputin's death, when she was imprisoned with her brothers and sisters, and eventually sent to Siberia, from where she made her escape. She hopes to obtain some engagement on the stage, as she is a very talented girl and a good dancer. She is shown wearing the same costume which she wore while she lived with her father, and with which she arrived in Paris.

Many Old People

Hutchinson, Kans.—Halstead, with a total population of around 1,200, has more than forty residents more than seventy-five years old, the oldest being ninety-three years of age. It is claimed the percentage of septuagenarians in Halstead is larger than any town in the state.

Find House Built of Mud 200 Years Ago

Philadelphia.—After weathering the sunshine and storms of perhaps two centuries, a two-story house, built of mud from foundation to roof, has been discovered by a building inspector and condemned.

Close examination of the unique structure, which stands at 322 Buttonwood street, revealed that builders of 200 years ago used the same methods of pouring mud into wooden molds as is used today in the construction of modern concrete buildings.

To the generations of men, women and children that have passed it, the house has stood noteworthy history. A week ago it was to the passing citizenry only a house on a street, that's been there for many years.

"Favorite sons," even though finally disappointed, have no reason to complain of the Democratic convention which gave them no end of advertising space and put no limit on the enthusiastic sympathies of their

WHITE CEDAR HELD PRECIOUS IN JAPAN

Fast Vanishing Supply Held for Temple Use

Washington.—A representative of a western lumber concern, who has returned from a visit to Japan, has informed Manager Blalock of the Seattle office of the Department of Commerce that the supply of white cedar in that country is controlled by the Imperial family and comes from one of their estates. There is also a white cedar which comes from the Island of Formosa, but this is less desirable because it has a tendency to be punk in the center.

The Japanese white cedar of the highest grade is considered practically sacred. All of the wood 13 inches and up in diameter is reserved for the building of temples. The cheaper grades, however, are disposed of like other woods. Especially fine pieces are reserved for the temples of the emperors. Only white cedar grown in Japan is used for building temples.

In the opinion of this visitor, most of the white cedar shipped to Japan is used for exposed beams on the inside of dwelling houses, where this wood is prized for its appearance and in which a Japanese paid $1,100 in gold in this country for a choice beam 18 inches square, 20 feet long, with perfect diagonal grain.

Polish timber exports in 1923 increased to 1,165,057 tons, valued at approximately $9,000,000, from 1,023,325 tons, valued at $4,000,000, in 1922. Assistant Trade Commissioner B. I. win, Warsaw, reports to the Department of Commerce. Virtually the entire increase which is said to have led to excessive exploitation of Polish timber resources, occurred in the first half of the year. Following the imposition in June of export taxes intended to check excess cutting and equally to stimulate the domestic wood-saving and manufacturing industry by limiting the export of raw materials, shipments in the second half of the year fell to mere fractions of their former volume.

Wins Gold Watch Prize as Champion Commuter

J. Z. Demarest of Closter, N. J., seventy-one years old, who has commuted between Closter, N. J., and New York city every working day for 56 years and 9 months, was awarded the title of being the champion commuter on the Erie railroad. He was presented with a watch as a token of his new title.

Cop Retains His Job Though He May Be Rich

Hollywood, Cal.—Everybody knows policemen are skeptical, and Herbert H. Reynolds, traffic officer of Hollywood, is no exception. In the squadron at the police station, fellow officers recently crowded around and congratulated him on falling heir to $500,000.

"Maybe yes and maybe no," Reynolds commented, leaving hurriedly to take up his duty as directing traffic officer at Hollywood's busiest corner.

According to Attorney Charles Knudson, the money was left Reynolds by his father-in-law, Margus Brown in Philadelphia.

Despite a year's separation between Reynolds and his wife, the Brown family is said to hold a warm spot in its heart for Reynolds, who submitted to eight blood transfusions to save the life of his sister-in-law.

Paroled Criminal Jars Faith of Dickens' Son

London.—Sir Henry Dickens, who, as a London magistrate, has found in actual life that the faith of his famous novelist father had in human nature is not always justified, has just commented on a case that was brought before him recently. Sir Henry some time ago remarked that he was determined to try a great experiment with a man who was arraigned before him.

Although the prisoner had a long criminal record, Sir Henry paroled him and found work for him. Three months later the man was again arrested.

"Disappointments I have ever experienced," said Magistrate Dickens. "I will never try such a thing again."

There is no let-up in the "crime wave" in general, but it is encouraging to learn that in the first half of 1924 there were only five lynchings in this country, compared with 16 in 1923 and 30 in 1922. This is the best record in 40 years.

GERMANS EXPECT CONFERENCE BID

Berlin, July 24.—The German government confidently expected a formal invitation today to attend the inter-allied conference in London already the delegation has been named, headed by Chancellor Marx and Dr. Stresemann and details of the journey to London, which will be made, if at all, in an ordinary tram and channel boat, worked out.

Governmental circles are putting out propaganda concerning the visit, already, hastening to emphasize that Marx is going to discuss the experts report with the allies, not to listen to dictation of terms.

The Latin phrase "sic transit gloria mundi" perhaps occurs to Senator Lodge with every whack and snub he gets from his old party associates.
